INTRODUCTION

The Bermuda National Bibliography records the publishing activity of Bermuda and provides a reflection of the social, economic and cultural endeavours of this country. The bulk of these materials are obtained through Legal Deposit which allows us to maintain a permanent record of an important aspect of the Island's cultural heritage.

Legal Deposit in Bermuda

The first Legal Deposit legislation in Bermuda was The Printed Publication Act, 1971, which only covered print materials. This Act was amended by The Legal Deposit Act, 2008 which greatly broadened the scope covered.

The Legal Deposit Act, 2008, which repeals Section 5 of the Printed Publications Act 1971, sets out the requirements regarding the deposit of new Bermuda publications in the Bermuda National Library. A small section is reproduced below:

"Delivery of copies of publications

- 3 (1) This section applies to—
- (a) a person who publishes a publication in Bermuda; and
 - (b) a person who is resident in Bermuda, or whose principal place of business is in Bermuda, and who publishes, or commissions the publishing of, a publication outside Bermuda for distribution or making available in Bermuda.
- (2) Subject to subsection (5), every person who publishes a publication shall within seven days after the date of publishing it deliver a copy of the publication, at their own expense, to the Head Librarian for deposit in the Bermuda National Library.
- (3) The copy shall be delivered in the medium in which it is published, unless another medium is prescribed."

General Selection Criteria

Included are works about Bermuda and Bermudians, published both locally and abroad, works published in Bermuda on other subjects, and works published abroad by Bermudians. Emphasis is on items readily available through normal book suppliers or through the author or publisher. However, Bermuda has a small and unique publishing environment so unpublished and privately-printed titles are often deposited with the Bermuda National Library. These are included in the Bibliography.

Media Covered

The Bibliography covers monographs, periodical publications, published and unpublished Government and other reports, audio-visual materials, and items in other formats when applicable. Some theses are included; particularly those covering subjects significant to Bermuda.

Many Bermuda Government documents are only made available online as PDFs. These and other electronic documents are not included in the Bermuda National Bibliography but they are collected by the Bermuda National Library whenever possible. Some Government Departments print out their documents specifically for deposit at the Bermuda National Library. These printed copies are catalogued and included in the Bibliography.

Fiction published outside Bermuda with a Bermuda setting is not usually included unless the author has a local connection. These items may form a part of the general circulation collection but are not considered to be a part of the Bermudiana Collection so do not appear in the Bibliography.

Posters, tourist and promotional fliers, event programmes and other ephemera are not usually included in the Bibliography even though representative examples of these kinds of publications may be collected by the Library.

Cataloguing Codes and Standards of Description

The list is arranged according to the 23rd edition of the Dewey Decimal Classification. New materials are catalogued according to the provisions of Resource Description & Access (RDA). Records for continuing publications originally created prior to 2014 follow the Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules, Second edition, 2002 revision (updated 2003-2005).

Subject headings are derived from an in-house format for local authority records which is based on the Sears List of Subject Headings and the LC Name Authority File.

Occasionally notes have been left out or abbreviated. Full bibliographic records (including MARC format) can be viewed in the online catalogue via the Bermuda National Library's website at www.bnl.bm.

97 pages ; 23 cm
Bda. Author
"Stop Hurting Yourself explores the power of the mind and its ability to distort reality. Ms. Lewis uses real life examples of how this phenomenon can cause extreme problems in our lives. She challenges readers to own their truth while explaining how to combat the lies that we tell ourselves. Have you ever wondered why a friend or loved one can't see why someone is not good for them? Do all your friends tell you that the person you're seeing is going to hurt you but you don't know what they're talking about? Have your parents treated you horribly or abused you but you hold onto the 1 or 2 good things in them? Do you know someone that appears to have it all together, but when you dig deeper their life is a mess? Understand why your brain is distorting reality and then Stop Hurting Yourself."-- Amazon.com.

"Today there is so much sadness, so many disappointments, so many tragedies, and so many unwanted problems for which we cannot seem to find the answers; and with all this, there is hardly anything encouraging or uplifting to give us the incentive to continue life in a positive direction. My hope is that in the pages of this book, you will find peace during the storms of life. As you read, look beyond the pages and see like a soaring eagle, because an eagle's eyes are about eight times more powerful than the human eye. Let the pictures and words of this book cause your spirit to soar to higher heights and refuse to remain in that lowly place. Allow the inspiration of this book to strengthen you as you continue life's journey. Allow this book to show you that, despite the many obstacles in life, there is strength in words, pictures, and in nature. You will mount up with wings like an eagle. You shall run and not be weary. You shall walk and not faint. So, fly high eagles. Fly high!"--Back cover.

CLASSIFIED SUBJECT SECTION

"Bermuda's distinctive vernacular architecture has long been admired and lauded. But it was a Canadian artist—smitten with the delights of the sub-tropical island—who first called academic attention to its importance. John Lyman crafted what would have been the first book on Bermuda architecture (and furniture), but in the turbulent years after the First World War it was never published. In this volume the National Museum of Bermuda Press bring to life for the first time in print Lyman's unpublished manuscript alongside scores of photographs he had made for the project and scholarly analysis and support commentary from an array of experts in the field."—Back cover.

"The Bean Baile seems like any other coffee shop. There are cappuccinos, chai lattes, muffins, and croissants. It is tucked into a cozy strip mall just off the college campus. But this coffeehouse holds more than a caffeine jolt—it holds secrets. Gathered behind its doors are professors, athletes, students, and a resident cat—or so it seems. Look deeper and you might see orcs, satyrs, fairies, and gremlins. It is little wonder that Barnabas Gentry, owner of the Bean Baile, wants to keep out technology. The old ways are best when dealing with the fae. Cassie wants to change all that. She's a Youtuber who desperately wants to film with the backdrop of a fireplace surrounded by books. The only thing standing in her way is the lack of Wi-Fi. Her hope for a change comes stumbling in one blustery day in the form of a wayward reporter."— Amazon.com.

"In 1962 Philip Arrington, a psychologist with a PhD from Yeshiva, arrives in the small, mostly blue-collar town of Monroe, New York, to rent a house for himself and his new wife. They're Black, something the man about to show him the house doesn't know. With that, we're introduced to the Arringtons: Phil, Velma, his daughter Livia (from a previous marriage), and his youngest, Madeline, soon to be born. They're cosmopolitan. Sophisticated. They're also troubled, arrogant, and throughout the linked stories, falling apart."—

In a land where past and present collide, where duty and honour come before love... a true love story emerges. Prince Jhehsay is betrothed at birth to Chaylay E-Oliff and finally meets her at age 16. He can tell she has been spoiled and is only after the untold riches she would possess as his queen.

Seeking love, Jhehsay goes in disguise to the ultra modern city of Zamir where he intends to find his true mate. Chaylay sends her servant Azmira to spy on him and uncovers his plan to find his true mate. He finds Aria working as the Assistant Manager of her family's ritzy nightclub. He keeps his identity a secret to find out if she would love him for himself and not who and what he is. Chemistry sparks between them and he is certain she is his true mate. Chaylay has other plans.

The box : a novel / Mandy-Suzanne Wong. – Minneapolis, Minnesota : Graywolf Press, [2023]

241 pages ; 21 cm

"In a dark and crooked lane in an unnamed city where it never ceases to snow, a small white box falls from a coat pocket. It is made of paper strips woven tightly together; there is no apparent way to open it without destroying it. What compels a passing witness, a self-described anthropobe, to pick up the box and chase after the stranger who dropped it? The Box follows a rectangular cuboid as it changes hands in a collapsing metropolis, causing confluences, conflicts, rifts, and disasters. Different narrators, each with a distinctive voice, give secondhand accounts of decisive moments in the box's life. From the anthropobe to a newly hired curator of a renowned art collection, from a couple who own an antiquarian bookshop to a hotel bartender hiding from a terrible past, the storytellers repeat rumors and rely on faulty memories, grasping at something that continually escapes them. Haunting their recollections is one mysterious woman who, convinced of the box's good or evil powers, pursues it with deadly desperation."--Back cover.

A story of grief and redemption by a groundbreaking scientist who led the way in psychedelic research. In Dr. MacLean's first year on the faculty at Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, her path takes an unexpected detour following the death of her younger sister from cancer. After leaving her faculty job, MacLean travels the world -- bringing medical and humanitarian aid to remote Himalayan villages and creating sanctuary spaces for psychedelic support -- until she settles on an organic farm. While birthing and raising her two children, leading workshops, psychedelic retreats, and training to become an MDMA therapist, MacLean's traumatic past and the loss of her sister continue to haunt her. When her father is dying, MacLean realises that she must dive straight into the heart of her own labyrinth in order to forgive him. Midnight Water is not only a personal story of psychedelic healing but an inspired vision for a psychedelic future that positions women and family caregivers at the centre of home-based healing, from birth through death.
